TAMMANY TRAITOR, M'CABE REPEATS

Albany Leader Says His Organization Severs Allegiance to Murphy.

ALBANY, July 29.—Patrick E. McCabe, Democratic leader of Albany county, re-iterated to-day his charge, made several nonths ago, that Tammany Hall played the part of a traitor in the national and State campaigns last year and asserted that Albany county Democrats have severed their allegiance to Murphy leader-ship in the State. He characterized William F. Schneider, clerk of New York county and active in the fight against Mayor Mitchel, as "defender and chief character assassin to Tammany." Mr.

McCabe said:

"Last February, I think it was, I said through the press of the State that the leadership of Tammany Hall was believed by many to have been treacherous to the Democratic national and State tickets last fall. Florence Reed was the heroine on the Strand screen yesterday appearing in "To-day," which New York saw at the Forty-eighth Street Theatre after George Broadhurst had translated it into his English from the Yiddish of Abraham Schomer. Miss Reed is an experienced actress on the speaking stage and was able, of course, to meet every require-ment of the cinema pantomime. The despicable attitude of the drama toward American womanhood, which it held up of the parents, through whom most of it was uttered by the authors, was naturally eliminated. Here one recog-nized the potential blessings of the screen. There were the usual topical views and music that delighted

"The manner in which the charges have been treated by the accused reveals a condition in the party below The Bronx which is incredible beyond the understanding of the broadest and deepest of political minds and which must be charged entirely to the hardened front of the Tammany leadership of to-day. For northern New England, probably local showers to-day; warmer in the interior; fair to-morrow; moderate southwest winds.

"It appeared in a New York city paper and came from a quarter—inspired—that I was mad because a friend of mine wasn't offered up as a sacrifice last November to make a Roman holiday for the Hall. This sort of thing is looked upon as sound reasoning by the incumbent isadership of Tammany, but to men who have the power to think it is too silly to notice.

"Then again, we're informed by County Clerk Schneider—whom I do not know—that certain business interests had dragooned me into the New York city Mayoralty campaign on the side of Mr. Mitchel because of favors they had received at the hands of the Mayor. This observation is without a scintilla of truth, is made of whole cloth, but serves the good purpose of emidphasizing how reckiess of the truth is the County Clerk in his political statements.

Situation Here Improving, Although Prices Continue at High Levels.

Throughout the Metropolitan district Throughout the Metropolitan district down, but there is no sign of a weaken-the building situation has improved, if ing in prices. Yellow pine is $45; not from an actual construction stand-spruce, 2 inch. random, $32; Pennsylnot from an actual construction standpoint, in so far as sentiment is con-cerned, according to the Record and Guids. Builders were almost in the depths of despair a few weeks ago and it seemed as though there was no hope for the re-newal of construction work for many months to come. This feeling, however, is being reversed, and calm judgment shows that the demand is so great for certain types of buildings that the present high cost of materials cannot act as a deterrent factor much longer.

Viewed from a certain light, it is to be considered fortunate that the build-ing activity is not greater than at pres-ent. The necessities of the Government must take precedence over private work. Up to the present time the military work has received every consideration from building contractors of the best stansuiding contractors of the best stan-dard, and in many instances they have subjugated personal ambitions and op-portunities for large profits in a pa-trictic endeavor to be of service to the country in time of heed.

The settling of the shipbuilding con-troversy has had a beneficial effect on the market at least force areas and and the market, at least from a moral stand-point. The building trade is relieved that this obstacle has been removed, for it feels that the sooner the Governmen work is started on a large scale the quicker the situation will clear.

Steel mills are doing their utmost to comply with governmental orders, and the capacity of the mills throughout the country is so large that only a comparaand 25,000 tons of steel bars were giver out by the Government this week. The Navy Department has awarded con-tracts for about 4,000 tons of structural steel for magazines and shell warehouse France wants 50,000 tons of rails, and a large number of cars, locomotives and bridges Japan purchased 7,000 tons of tank and hull plates from American mills, paying 11.2 to 12 cents pound, which is nearly four times the price paid by the United States. Russia is re-ported to require 10,000 railroad cars. The contracts for motor cars placed by Great Britain, France and Russia will total about $40,000,000, which will go to American manufacturers. Mill ship-ments of fabricated steel are being quoted at 4.669 to 5.169 cents, New York, for delivery in one to four months. The Federal Trade Commission will not receive the preliminary estimates of costs on iron and steel production for a couple of weeks, and until these figures are available, price fixing cannot be ac-

The effect will be to hasten boat shipments to New England and other destinations and release railroad cars as soon as possible. These piers are located at Elizabeth, Fort Liberty, South Amboy and Fort Similar pooling activities will commence on August 1 at Philadelphia, Hampton Roads and Baltimore. These movements cover a considerable area and will have a beneficial effect upon the local market deliveries. The total amount of coal likely to be shipped from the four tidewater ports will amount to 25,000,000 tons.

The copper situation remains un-changed. The consumption continues heavy, labor conditions being the prinheavy, labor conditions being the principal deterrent factor. The refinery production for June is estimated as having been 200,000,000 pounds. The total output of refined copper for the first six months of 1917 is estimated at 1.055,000,000 pounds, compared with 2.55,000,000 pounds during the year 1916.
